

PM@WN

The standard for professional project management from Wincor Nixdorf

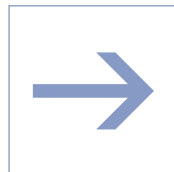

Planning, controlling, monitoring

Every project is unique. Which is why there is no universal recipe for success when it comes to planning and implementation. There are, however, methods, tools and control systems which make every phase of a project faster, more effective and more economical.

Wincor Nixdorf's constant focus: A clear goal, a clear path and results that are spot-on.

Wincor Nixdorf has tailor-made solutions for professional project management. Based on the internationally accepted standard of the Project Management Institute (PMI®), we offer a proven method suitable for all: PM@WN.

PM@WN brings together decades of sector-specific experience in the retail and banking sectors and comprehensive project management expertise.

And on a worldwide basis, too. Wherever workflows need to be made more efficient, or brand-new IT systems call for the redesign of organizational structures, Wincor Nixdorf project management is there to help. Specially trained and certified project managers plan, organize, control and monitor the project through to a successful conclusion. And here, compliance with schedules and budgets and assured quality are at the heart of every action.

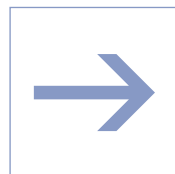

Be fast
Be certain
Be more efficient with PM@WN

A system-based approach born of experience

Markets are growing. Anyone looking to improve structures has to be able to think complexly and deal flexibly. Not only does project management help to achieve this, it also saves time and goes easy on the budget.

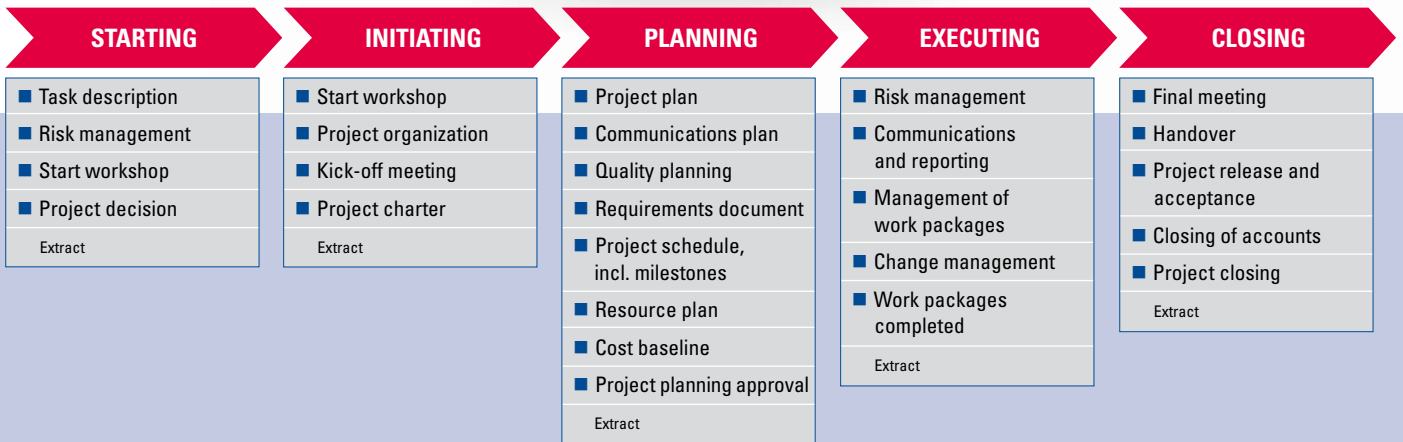

The Project Management Institute (PMI®) is the world's largest project management institution, with more than 240,000 active members in over 125 countries, exchanging ideas worldwide. The PMI®'s role as a center of continuous research and as a source of uniform certification criteria for project managers give it special significance.

How does PM@WN work?

Project management from Wincor Nixdorf encompasses a carefully thought-out system made up of methods, tools, qualification programs and instruments of control, which ensure that every project goes according to plan. The uniform PMI® standard guarantees that all those involved speak the same language. Thanks to the same terminology and a common perception of the processes involved in a project, PM@WN can be deployed immediately right across the Wincor Nixdorf environment.

And in the wider arena too, of course. All those involved have a wealth of soundly-based knowledge and up-to-date information on the project at their disposal. Thus, project teams have what they need to get down to work without delay, and benefit from continuous transparency throughout the course of the project. And if necessary, new employees can be rapidly integrated into the teams. Thanks to intelligent information and communication management, cross-business projects run smoothly too.

PM@WN offers a uniform approach for successful projects of every size.

How you benefit:

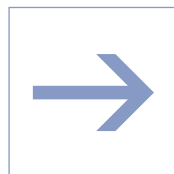

- High level of project transparency
- Immediate global applicability
- Comprehensive control options
- Planning certainty
- Adherence to deadlines
- Cost efficiency

Up to date around the world

You can rely on the high standard of Wincor Nixdorf's project management, anytime, anywhere.

With PM@WN you can be certain that your project will run reliably and securely.

To keep this promise, local project management offices staffed by highly qualified specialists are available "on the ground". And to cater for organizational needs within the global PM@WN network, there is the Project Management Center of Excellence. This central unit ensures the ongoing exchange of information and the continuous training and coaching of project participants and project groups. The Project Management Center of Excellence coordinates the projects and supports the local project teams through optimization and updating of the methods and tools, based on practical experience. PM@WN ensures that projects run smoothly, efficiently and according to plan in every phase of the process chain.

Making the right connection

Wide-ranging know-how and experience provide the basis for professional project management from Wincor Nixdorf. Right across the world, highly qualified specialists provide daily evidence of this service. This global network is available both to customers and business partners, who profit from the uniform approach of our project management methods and the highly effective tools and multifaceted opportunities for continuing education.

All of this creates lasting added value for the successful use of project management. Why not find out for yourself how your project can securely and smoothly achieve all its goals? With PM@WN you can make use of the right connections.

Global, innovative and efficient.
